1) Cut a 3" x 6" piece of white cardstock – Northwoods watercolor paper or Bazzill smooth used on samples, but mostly anything will work.

2) Apply the brush to an ink pad in a circular motion over and over to “load” ink onto the brush head.

3) Apply the brush in the same circular motion to the cardstock, starting on trash paper and moving onto the cardstock to avoid “hotspots”.

4) Reapply until desired coverage

5) Clean brush by swirling it on a dry rag to switch colors.

6) Apply and overlap colors as shown

7) Arrange one of the outline tag dies and whichever inserts you like on the cardstock piece you colored. Use washi tape or a magnetic platform to help hold dies in place. Run through your Die cutting machine.

8) Using Tim Holtz metallic cardstock, cut and emboss the 3D Impreslits Leaf. (Just cut a piece big enough to do the little leaf) Remember the 3D folders need your plate “sandwich” to be adjusted. Instructions on package

- 9) Die cut the Hero Arts ( or word of your choice)
- 10) Adhere word with two-way glue.
- 11) Use 3D Zot to attach leaf.
- 12) Add twine, tying a knot, untwisting it and pulling fibers apart to “fluff” it.

13) Using tag outline die alone, cut a backer for your tag if desired. Adhere the two pieces together with glue or scor tape. You could also just tie the pieces together at the top for a loose effect.

14) Keep having fun, mixing and matching. There is a round tag set included as well. Scroll down to see the sample board we made and take note of the gift card holder option. Also, if you are wondering about the little slits in the corners that hold the Santa Bear panel in place, it is a Corner Slit punch by Dress my Crafts.
