A funny little story from Shirley: ( Hope it makes you smile!)

Well, the pandemic left me missing you girls something terrible! I had so many Make and Takes planned for all our Spring events which were, of course, canceled. What can a lonely Scrapbook Shop lady do? I know... I've got all these cats around the house...maybe they would like to do a Make and Take...Let's see...

Ahhh...I got the table all set up and three students have arrived! Don't they look eager and attentive?

Using the Sizzix Zoo Friends Die, cut multiple copies of all designs from assorted colors of paper.

You can see Chauntelle has several of hers done already!

Griffy would like you to notice that he cut the tail and the “horn knobs” off the pink giraffe and pasted them on the orange giraffe for extra contrast. He also added some of the spot dots from the die cut shapes to the giraffe body. You can mix and match body parts from all the animals this way.

Those claws come in handy for picking up the tiny parts!

Does the bag he is sitting on look familiar? He’s been shopping at Scrapbooks Forever!

Below: Notice how the stripes are glued in place and then excess is trimmed off for a perfect fit.

Use Distress ink, Picket Fence brushes and Grassy Stencil to create background.

A light layer of Peeled Paint was applied across the bottom of the white cardstock panel. Then the stencil was laid down three times in a row, applying more ink each time for an illusion of depth to the grass.

Broken China was applied freestyle for the sky.

Mat panel on a contrasting color. Easy way to line up is to apply Scortape and peel back just a bit of the liner, fold over as shown. Turn to the right side and line up, balancing the panel on the tabs until perfect. Press corners and pull tabs.

Adhere characters in place using 3D foam pop dots. In this version, Griffy arranged them waiting in line for rides on the giraffe!

Add hearts floating above... to show your love!

Makes a cute embellishment for a Trip to the Zoo page or a Baby page.

Makes a fun just saying hello or I love you greeting card.

Have fun mixing and matching!

Below: Layshon shows off her version with different animals and color scheme. She loves using the Big Shot, as you can see!
